

Big Boost for Boulder's Seniors: Frasier Awards Nearly $100,000 in Grants to Local Agencies Serving Older Adults

BOULDER, Colo. (June 19, 2025) – Frasier, a nonprofit senior living community, has awarded $99,500 in grants to five local organizations that provide essential services for older adults in Boulder County.

The funding, distributed through the Frasier Community Fund Endowment, will support projects addressing food insecurity, housing instability and healthcare access for underserved seniors. Since the endowment's inception in 2021, Frasier has awarded $394,500 to community agencies.

The grantmaking process is led by Seniors for Seniors (S4S), a resident advisory group at Frasier that establishes funding criteria, reviews applications and visits agencies to learn about their impact.

"The Seniors for Seniors team takes this responsibility to heart," said Gail Promboin, a Frasier resident and S4S team lead. "We care deeply about how these funds are used and where they'll have the greatest impact. It's also inspiring to see so many of these organizations collaborating—partnerships within partnerships—working together to lift up the community."

The 2025 grant recipients include:

- Boulder Housing Partners – $36,000 to modernize the kitchen at Golden West Apartments and relaunch a meal program ($31,000), plus $5,000 for an emergency assistance fund to prevent evictions.
- Harvest of Hope – $15,000 to expand mobile food pantries at Golden West and Presbyterian Manor, improving access to groceries for seniors.
- Presbyterian Manor – $17,000 to offset lost county funding for low-cost meals, ensuring older adults continue receiving affordable food.
- Sister Carmen Community Center – $18,000 to pilot extended rental assistance and financial literacy training for seniors.
- TRU PACE – $18,500 to purchase GrandPad devices for homebound seniors, improving communication with healthcare providers and reducing isolation.
- The Seniors for Seniors program oversees the $2.1 million endowment, created to strengthen support for Boulder County's aging population.

"These grants reflect Frasier's purpose to support older adults both within and beyond our campus," Promboin said. "By investing in community-based solutions, Frasier and its residents are helping create a more connected, compassionate and secure future for seniors across Boulder County."
